

Companion Sand Accumulation Patterns

Take 5+ friends to the beach separate from one another.

Lie down flat on the sand

Flat as can be.
Closed eyes.

Sense the wind

its direction, its force.

The wind tumbles you - little grain.
Begin to roll slowly.

Feeling which parts of your skin lose & regain contact from the sandy ground as you rotate. Notice your spine quietly spiraling. Skin on grain. Grain as skin.

Think of the others, their skin on grain, skin as grains too. Feeling what they are feeling - we hope to accumulate - to duneify.

Roll on as the wind tumbles you...

You may come across others - rolling companions.
Try staying bonded when you meet.

Accumulated, piled.
Sticky sand building up.

Somehow rolling together ... can you?

Small Accumulations...bit by bit,
until all the people are together,
a pile.

A small mountain made of multitudes, accumulated.
Assembled.
